

DEEPWAVE Check-in Instructions Upon Arrival in Christchurch

The NSF Antarctic Center is located just north of the Christchurch International Airport on Orchard Road. The building address is 37 Orchard Road and is a long two story office building just north of the International Antarctic Center Museum and Visitor Center. A zoom in of the area immediately adjacent to the International Airport is shown below in Figure 1.

Figure 1. Local map for the vicinity of Christchurch International Airport and nearby Antarctic Center

When you leave the airport there is a traffic circle. Exit left (and remember, stay to the left!!) onto Orchard road and travel just a 1/4 mile or so to the north. You will see the light blue curved International Antarctic Center on your right and the NSF Antarctic Research Center is the adjacent two story long white office building just after the main Visitor Center. Entrance into the car park is a right turn beyond the office building by a hundred meters or so. A picture of the two buildings is shown in Figure 2 below.

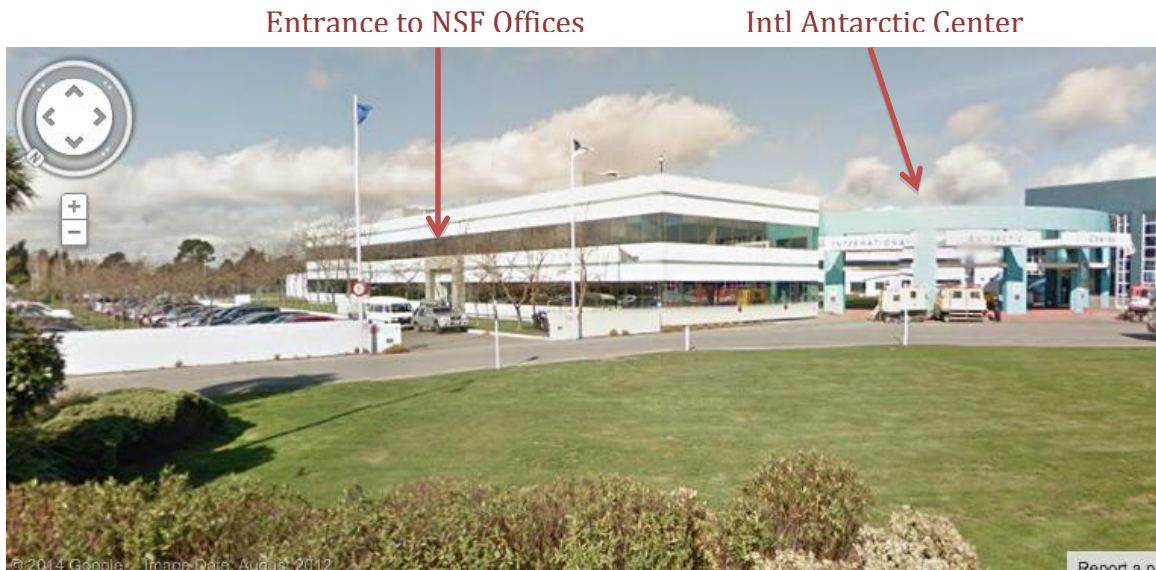

Figure 2. The NSF Antarctic Center (including PAE Limited) Offices and International Antarctic Visitor Center just north of Christchurch International Airport on Orchard Road.

The entrance into the parking area will be to the right a bit further along Orchard Road. Follow the entrance drive back to the parking area on the left in Fig. 2. Park in the labeled visitor parking (left side of image above) and proceed to the entrance door on the side of the building as shown in Fig. 2. Inside on the right is a guard office. Please identify yourself as being with the DEEPWAVE Project and they will contact Operations Center staff just across the street to come and meet you and take you to the office to retrieve your badge and locate where you will reside during your stay.